REBIRTH OF THE MYSTERY QUILT

Sometime in the fall of 2007, Lorna Lagerquist, a member of the local quilt guild, was searching the cupboards in the conference/exercise room in the Westby Community Center for a little space to store some quilt patterns the We Bee Quilters had won

Lorna took the forlorn little bundle home to decipher and salvage what she could of the mysterious quilt. The quilt, approximately 5 1/2 X 7 feet, was badly in need of repair. Much of the embroidered threads were rotted and the alternating solid red in a national contest. As she rummaged through yellowed papers, brown paper bags, and boxes of mostly obsolete material from long forgotten clubs and organizations, call it fate, luck, or whatever you wish, there in the corner she spotted it. The most unpretentious treasure of Westby history in the form of a wadded up, tattered and faded, long, long forgotten quilt one could ever imagine. Lorna exclaimed, "When I found it, I couldn't believe my eyes. I couldn't think where it came from, how long it had been there or who would have so nonchalantly discarded such a piece of history. I knew we had to preserve it."

cotton squares had started to disintegrate as well as the red borders on either side. Lorna and her husband, Bob, painstakingly disassembled the 433 pieces all the while drawing an exact replica to scale, so the treasure could be put back together just as it had been discovered. The pattern includes 36 rows of 2 1/2 X 5 inch blocks surrounding a larger center square which gives the biggest clue, to the origins of the quilt. The center block is hand stitched "Westby Ladies Aid, Westby, Montana, 11-17-1921".

IMMANUEL TO HOLD DISCUSSION MEETING

Immanuel Lutheran Church will hold a meeting on March 11th after church services to discuss the direction the congregation would like the building committee to focus their efforts in regards to a fellowship hall. Prior to this discussion, a vote will be held on whether to have volunteer members re-do the Sunday School rooms this spring so the rooms will be available for use when Sunday School resumes in the fall.

Immanuel council and building committee member Eric Nielsen will lead the discussion and members of the fundraising committee will be on hand to answer questions as best they can.

The discussion will focus on whether the fellowship hall should be re-built as is, re-built in basement with handicap assess ability, or build a ground level handicap assess ability addition. No specific plans for any of these options will be presented. The committees are only asking permission to pursue one option over another.

A congregational vote will be held on March 25th to guide the building committee on which of these options to pursue and different plans for the desired option will be presented at a future meeting.

MIDDLE SCHOOL TOP SPELLERS

Pictured are Katie Nielsen, daughter of Eric and Cindy Nielsen, Hunter Olson, son of Kevin Olson, Farrah and Fallon Garman, daughters of Shane and Jill Garman, Madison Pulvermacher daughter of Loren and Jennifer Pulvermacher, Brandon Garces son of Al and Vicki Garces. All of these Westby Middle School students qualified for the County Spelling Bee held in Plentywood on February 28th.

PLAYERS HONORED

As is tournament tradition, the Brockton Warriors honored those around them with a Star Quilt Ceremony. Three Rangers were lucky recipients at this year's ceremony during the championship game of the 2012 District tournaments in Sidney. WHS junior Brady Olson, freshman Cooper Olson, and senior Brett Nielsen are pictured. Brady and Cooper are the sons of Kelly and Shari Olson; and Brett is the son of Eric and Cindy Nielsen.

I am excited, pleased, apprehensive, scared, all of these emotions and then some, about the prospect of community growth. I know it is hard for many to imagine- why we care, why we even have the concern about growth one way or another, or how we think we have any more control over it now than we did over the years of decline, but hope and optimism and dreams for our community and school, and their future is what gives us pride and builds loyalty and makes it ours. I have been on the WDC board for years where our mission statement is “to encourage, further and enhance local development, economic viability, quality of life and opportunity for all citizens of the greater Westby community”. For most of those years it has been like beating your head against a wall and many times the beating would have been easier. We have tried everything imaginable from seminars (wild rice, dried flowers), guest speakers (Tom Rolfstad & seed potatoes), experiments (kobosha squash, baby’s breath) to annual events (hunters dinner, Prairie Fest) to grant writing and publishing a newspaper to show progress; to prove to the rest of the world, if not ourselves, we aren’t going down without a fight. A buffalo commons? No way! but at times you could almost hear the sound of their hooves and feel their breath on your neck. So, despite it all, I am excited about the prospect of community growth, particularly, if we can proceed in some sort of organized fashion. We are very fortunate to have Luke Koterba volunteer his expertise and open the discussion about our desires and needs for a viable community long into the future.

While the oil boom has allowed us the opportunity, I don’t think the industry wants to push their way into our communities without adequate accommodations or lead the way in community growth any more than we want them to. It is up to us. As a farming community, we all know you have to make hay when the sun shines which is what the oil companies are attempting to do and what we need to do to rebuild our little corner of the world.

In the spirit of St Patrick’s Day, I present a strata with the flavors of a classic Reuben sure to please the Irish (or not) in all of us. If you’re short of corned beef, deli meat will work just fine. Again, the beauty of strata, besides it being a one dish wonder, is it is best built the night before so the bread can absorb all the egg mixture.

The surrounding quilt blocks held signatures of what is assumed were ladies aid members and their families. Men, women and children had signed them, 216 in all, and each signature was embroidered in red on a natural muslin cloth. To finish it, every other square was tied with tan wool thread. Although both Bob and Lorna were excited about the project, it was very tedious work and because the wool batting was so old and dusty, it was very hard to do for any length of time.

Some of the signatures were hard to decipher, too, either because the thread was gone or the writing was illegible. Bob and Lorna spent hours researching the local historical Sheridan Daybreak books and questioned our oldest residents to fill in the blanks. All but two or three of the signatures were identified and guild members did their best to replicate those without compromising their authenticity.

The dismantling and identifying process was completed in 2009, Lorna incorporated the help of her fellow quilt guild members to re-embroider all the signatures. It took over a year to complete this phase of the restoration. During the next year, the members began the painstaking process of reassembling the delicate squares using the prepared diagram.

Red cotton was used for sashings around each signature square and to replace the worn and frayed original alternate squares. An ivory backing was incorporated and batting was added. Former Wee Bee quilter Jennie Nordhagen shared her expertise in hand sewing the binding to encompass the border and finally, the quilt would be tied to complete the historical masterpiece and restore this piece of history as close to the original as possible.

Lorna and Bob have made inquiries, but has learned little of the 90 plus year journey of this forsaken little quilt. Although some of the signatures are recognizable (Dora Enger, P. G. Andersen), many appear unfamiliar (Mable Meyer, Mr. Miller, Rev A. O. Ness) and as far as her and Bob can tell, none of the 216 is alive or at least not living in Westby. Lorna and Bob, along with Elaine Onstad, will continue to research the persons on the quilt and their unique history with Westby.

Their findings will be published and made available to display with the quilt.

Regardless, if anyone is alive to relay its history, “the lost, but now is found and reborn” little quilt has told quite a story all on its own. What a wonderful gift this is for posterity and a real showstopper for Westby’s centennial in 2013.

The Board reviewed the Clerk's December financial report.

Public Comment:

Committee Reports:

Buildings & Grounds:

Meyer reported that Jensens' work on the new housing project is nearing completion. Carpet has been ordered, but installation has not been scheduled yet, and the water softener should be installed next week. The Cement work will need to be finished by Kanning Concrete this spring.

Mr. Holecek reported that the baseboard units in the school had been inspected and repaired by Sax Electric. Representatives from Mon-Dak, Prairie Engineering and Sheridan Electric have all been working on resolving the temperature fluctuation and electrical cost issues.

Unfinished Business:

A. After consulting with the Montana Teachers' Retirement System, the retirement proposal presented to the board at a previous meeting was re-worded to meet the guidelines of TRS and re-submitted to the board. Meyer moved to approve the revised proposal, Joyes seconded the motion; AIF.

C. The following 3-year Sports Co-ops are due for renewal: Boys' Basketball, Girls' Basketball, Girls' Volleyball (with Grenora) and Boys' Football (with Plentywood). Joyes made a motion to approve renewals of these co-ops if acceptable agreements with the cooperative schools can be reached. Meyer seconded the motion for renewal, AIF. Brenda Ryals and Brant Cartwright will represent the Westby School Board at meetings to discuss these renewals.

Announcements/Discussion

Superintendent's Report:

Mr. Holecek reported that a recent energy audit resulted in some recommendations for improved efficiency and cost savings. The first priority will be to re-route the wiring for the new heating units through the heat meter. Sheridan Electric has already begun this process.

An inspector for MT DPHHS performed a Health and Safety inspection of the school on February 10. His report should be received soon and Mr. Holecek will inform the board of the results.

Mr. Holecek and Susan Meyer attended a District 2C meeting on Feb. 12. At that meeting Sidney was chosen as the District 2C Tournament site for 2013.

WESTBY HONORS ARNOLD'S MEMORY

A group of twenty-nine runners (walkers) braved the elements and -10 degree temperatures to honor the memory of missing Sidney teacher Sherry Arnold and show their support to her family. The February 11th virtual run was organized by Arnold's cousin Beth Risdon, of Denver and had participants from 47 states and 5 countries. The Westby contingency raised $450.00 to be donated to her family.

2013 WESTBY CENTENNIAL UPDATE

Plans are, as time is, moving along in preparation for the 2013 Westby Centennial. We are closing in on the one year mark and some things need be addressed sooner than others as we approach the anniversary date.

A couple things which have been addressed in prior issues need now be stressed. First of all, the fundraising committee is compiling recipes for a Centennial Cookbook. The recipes need be in to this committee by July 1st, 2012, to allow adequate time for printing. The committee would like to have the finished book available for Christmas 2012. There are several options available to get your previously unpublished (in a Westby cookbook) recipes to the committee. They may be mailed to 2013 Westby Centennial, P O Box 61, Attn: cookbook, Westby, MT 59275; submitted online at www.westbycentennial.yolasite.com or put in a drop box at Al's Meat or Westby Community Center.

Next, a group on the entertainment committee is compiling a power point presentation to represent a century of Westby. They are requesting pictures of sites and sounds of the area including, but limited to, old businesses, Main Street, advertising & logos from past businesses, school related items, and people or groups of people with universal appeal.

Along with the photos, any information telling or describing the event and names of people in the picture should be included. Pictures from the entire century will be considered. Once again, there are several ways to get the photos to the committee. They may be mailed to 2013 Westby Centennial, P O Box 61, Attn: Photos, Westby, Mt, 59275, scanned and emailed to Westbycentennial2013@gmail.com or dropped with Robin Solberg, Jennifer Pulvermacher, or Gayle Overgaard at the high school. Original photos will be returned ASAP.

The last request from the Centennial Committee at this time is, if you know you are coming please register. There is no cost involved and it will help immensely in securing a caterer and meal planning. We have tried to make each of these processes as simple as possible so the same two options as above apply They may be mailed to 2013 Westby Centennial, P O Box 61, Attn: registration, Westby, MT 59275; submitted on the centennial web site at www.westbycentennial.yolasite.com or put in a drop box at Al's Meat or Westby Community Center.

To simplify things even further, recipes, photos and registration slips may all be mailed in the same envelope and they will be given to the appropriate committees.

On a final note. Of great concern has been the availability of housing for the centennial. Aside from staying with friends and family, there will be some in town RV parking available and other ideas are being worked on. The Sherwood Inn and Gold Dollar Lodge in Plentywood have also been contacted and both have agreed to make all of their rooms available for rent during the 2013 Westby Centennial. Their only request is to refrain from calling until mid-July. They do not take reservation more than one year in advance and because they are dealing with Plentywood's Centennial on July 4th of this year, they ask reservations not be made until theirs has wrapped up. The Sherwood Inn may be contacted at 406-765-2810 and Gold Dollar Lodge at 406-765-2730.
